LOCAL NOTES.

Charley Leach returned from Sonora yesterday.

General Crook is now at Fort Whipple.

Deputy Collector Wilson, of Deming, will be removed to La Noria.

Mrs. Fred Hinke has returned from a visit to San Diego, California. She reports that business is good in that city.

J. J. Lebea and P. F. Hook, prominent citizens of Bisbee, paid the EPITAPH office a pleasant visit yesterday evening.

The Tax-payers Committee will, it is said, keep up their organization until after the election.

In a recent number, the Chicago Herald publishes a long interview with the late Charles S. Benham, on Sonora matters.

The leaders of the Boycotting League run away now whenever they see an EPITAPH man coming around the corner. They must have bad consciences.

It is reported that the Southern Pacific will remove the end of the freight division back to Deming, the water at Lordsburg not being sufficient in quantity.

It is hoped that some Chinaman will put the hose at work upon the Slop Committee of the anti-Chinese League, when they are gawking around citizens' back yards.

The funeral of little Chustine Rastine was numerously attended yesterday. Quite a number of school-mates of the deceased child escorted the remains to the burying place.

Miss Minnie Rafferty, the Fifth-street milliner, is doing a splendid business since the arrival of her new goods. This is the best place in Tombstone for ladies to provide themselves with everything needed in the millinery line.

Tomlinson, of the Democrat, celebrated his birthday yesterday. Tom hails from the State of Maine, the home of the clam and the codfish. The EPITAPH has a weakness for the old Pine Tree State.

The best of order will prevail at the wrestling match, on the 24th ultimo, between Schumacher and "Greek" George. There will be twenty seats on the stage, at $2.50; reserved seats in the body of the hall, $1.50; general admission, $1.00. Many ladies have signified their intention of being present.

Assessor Burke returned yesterday from a professional tour through the Sulphur Springs valley. He says there are enough cattle in that valley for its present capacity. The stockmen are praying for rain. Charleston is dull, owing to the removal of the smelter to Tucson.

It is a striking commentary on the freedom of the press in this country that the Fort Worth Gazette has to be protected by a guard of soldiers because it has chosen to discuss the labor question from the standpoint of reason and common sense. And, too, it is for protection against the men, who claim that they cannot have liberty of opinion. They have not drawn the line yet as between liberty and license.—El Paso Tribune.

Writing of the reception of General Crook at Deming, the Headlight says: "The General left on the Santa Fe train to take command of the Department of the Platte. It was a noticeable fact that the General was not talked to death by admiring friends while in town. He looked lonely and it was no difficult matter to believe that he was telling the truth when he said that he was glad to get out of this country, and he might have added that the people were glad to see him go and would have parted with him without a pang of regret if he had gone several months ago.

THE NAVAJOES.

Interesting Information About a Remarkable Tribe of Indians.

The Holman committee which recently visited Arizona, has been interviewing "Navajo Sam," who was born in New York City. He gave the committee some interesting information regarding the Navajo Indians. The following extract from the interview is from a Washington telegram in the New York Mail and Express:

"They can do anything that you or I can do. They are good silversmiths and blacksmiths, shoemakers and farmers. They want to be citizens of the United States. They pay taxes to Arizona in horses and blankets. The Moqui tribe of Indian people claim to be rich. They are big cowards, but terrible workers; they have a number of thousand of sheep and some goats; they have not got any running streams. The agent is in with the contractors. They are peaceable and very industrious, and all they need is education to make them the best citizens. The children are employed in watching sheep and goats. The men only own their own ponies. The women own the houses. If a woman's husband dies she goes home to her husband's brother, if he is living. They have no war-like dances, but have corn-dances and rain-dances. They are not a nation to take scalps."

Q. What portion of the Navajos are on their reservation?

A. About 14,000 on, and about 14,000 off their reservation.

Q. Aren't they having trouble with Arizona by getting off their reservation?

A. They charge them taxes, and if they get a good range they steal it from them; and one thing they want is a right to buy supplies. You take a flock of sheep and run them across a tract of land and they will burn everything; they have got to have water for them. The trouble is they have not water enough. They have got $150,000 worth of silverware among them. They will drink whisky, but they will not buy it.

Q. Do they go from one house to another?

A. They keep some one in the house. They are without doubt the richest class of people we have in America. As a people, they will outvalue any other people. There are none of them poor; all have something. You start a boy out with ten sheep, and when he is twenty-five years of age he will have a big herd.

Geronimo at Work.

An El Paso dispatch says, an American gentleman who has just arrived in El Paso from western Sonora, reports that Geronimo and his band of hostile Apaches are doing considerable mischief near Babisepe. There seems to be very little doubt that nearly all the Apache scouts that were in service during the recent Apache campaign under Crook have joined Geronimo. These same scouts, while still in the federal service, last winter, committed many depredations in that portion of Sonora, stealing stock on all occasions, and when ordered to return the same by their commanding officer, flatly refused to do so. It is thought that in the case of many of these scouts, fear of punishment has caused them to join Geronimo.

The House Committee on Territories has agreed to report favorably the bill to provide for the organization of the Indian Territory and the public land strip into the Territory of Oklahoma. The bill provides that nothing in it shall be so construed as tending to disturb the existing property or treaty rights of the Indians. The bill also provides that the public land strip shall be opened to settlement under the provisions of the homestead laws only, and that as soon as the Creek and Seminole tribes shall give their assent, the unoccupied lands ceded by these Indians to the United States, shall be opened to settlement under the five years' settlement laws.
